IIDA CONFERENCE AND LEARNING CENTER NOW AVAILABLE FOR RENT

September 25, 2008, Chicago, IL – The International Interior Design Association (IIDA) announces its Conference and Learning Center is now available to rent. The Center provides state-of-the-art meeting space for Association events, and will be available for meetings and programs for local businesses and organizations. The IIDA Conference and Learning Center features products and materials that demonstrate that sustainable design can be both beautiful and functional. IIDA’s office is a LEED Gold certified space under the United States Green Building Council’s Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design for Commercial Interiors (LEED-CI). Designed by Envision Design, Washington, D.C., the new Headquarters is the first professional design association to receive this designation.

This 4,000 square foot venue can accommodate small intimate business meetings in the boardrooms, large 100 person theater-style presentations in the conference room, or larger events combining the three rooms and the pre/post function area including bar facility, all with the most up-to-date audio visual equipment.

The audio visual equipment available includes: laptop presentation abilities in PowerPoint and DVD, high definition projectors and screens, wireless Creston AV remote control panels, state-of-the-art sound system, 42” flat screen televisions, automated black-out blinds, and wheeled lectern with built-in power outlets and lecture light.

IIDA Members, Chapters and local non-profits are eligible for reduced rental rates.

For more information on how to rent IIDA’s Conference and Learning Center, please contact IIDA at 888.799.IIDA or meetings@iida.org.
