Hello! We are Dunwoody IDSS - Interior Design Student Society. IDSS is in its third year of bringing the expertise and talent of Dunwoody students and industry professionals in Interior Design together. "We spent a large amount of time thinking through the building process of the faucet, considering ways to make the assembly and disassembly easy for the client. While also structurally being able to supported and touched by fair goers... Overall the experience was challenging, engaging, rewarding and helped me gain skill in being part of a team and being a team leader. Along with learning how to operate a CNC machine and use electric tools, two skills I now really enjoy doing”.

Dunwoody IDSS are proud of our strong, positive presence within our community. Besides small group and individual volunteering, we have been working on a large-scale display for the Minnesota Department of Health. The Interior Design department works together to promote the benefits of municipal water through interactive design. This has provided an opportunity for Dunwoody IDSS students to learn new skills and build their resumes, as well as to spread knowledge about Environmental Health to the community.
Dunwoody IDSS students experienced project and firm tours, portfolio reviews and mock interviews conducted by working professionals, an industry expo, and a variety of networking opportunities.
Thank You.
