As we reflect on the fiscal and programmatic year prior to our 25th-anniversary milestone, we are reminded that IIDA is not just a professional association—it’s a community. We’re a global collective of multi-faceted, capable design citizens—with many layers and moving parts—propelling practice into the future while further establishing the interior design profession within our culture at large.

It is our privilege to support and collaborate with a membership that champions design excellence; that’s what makes this organization so vital. With your hard work and effort, you sustain IIDA’s goal of providing key professional tools, programming, and publications that bolster the success of our design community.

Looking toward the next 25 years and beyond, we remain committed to providing leadership, education, and advocacy for this community of invaluable members and dedicated leaders as you examine next-generation design solutions that address flexibility, inclusivity, and support of all aspects of human life.

This year’s annual report demonstrates fiscal, social, and organizational growth that IIDA enjoyed in 2018. It also serves as a reminder of your commitment to design excellence, your support of design education, and demonstrates that we truly are powered by design.

Thank you for continuously leading the profession and contributing to the success of this Association and, in turn, this industry. Cheers.

ASSOCIATION OVERVIEW

For 25 years, IIDA has served as the global authority and steward of the commercial interior design community. Through meaningful and relevant programming, events, information, and data, we address the business needs of design professionals, firms, and industry affiliates while providing support and connection to educators and students. Standing alongside our network of 15,000+ members across 58 countries we advocate for advancements in education, design excellence, legislation, leadership, accreditation, and community outreach to achieve broad recognition and understanding of the value of interior design as a profession that enhances business outcomes and positively impacts the health and well-being of our daily lives.

In this report, we have highlighted key achievements and activities from 2018. While not an exhaustive list, it provides a sampling of the priorities and programming the Association will continue to pursue in 2019 and beyond.

You can learn more about everything we do at www.iida.org.

IIDA HEADQUARTERS

Since moving its international headquarters to 111 E. Wacker Drive in downtown Chicago in 2017, IIDA has utilized the Gensler-designed, 17,000-square-foot space for chapter events, receptions, panels, programs, and other social and educational activities. In January 2018, the space received the Interiors Award in the Small Office category at the 39th Annual Interiors Awards Breakfast, presented by Contract, and in September 2018, it was a featured destination in the Chicago Architecture Center’s Open House Chicago.

LEADERSHIP UPDATE

In Spring 2018, IIDA welcomed John Czarnecki, Hon. IIDA, Assoc. AIA, as deputy director and senior vice president of the Association. As a former editor in-chief of Contract and highly respected industry veteran, Czarnecki has his sights set on engagement, dynamic collaboration, and scope expansion for the organization. John joins the leadership team that includes Executive Vice President and CEO Cheryl S. Durst, Hon. FIIDA, and Senior Vice President of Association Operations Lisa Toth.

SHARING INDUSTRY EXPERTISE

IDA holds programs throughout the year that highlight member thought leadership, such as the annual Industry Roundtable, a facilitated dialogue among interior designers, manufacturers, and clients. Industry Roundtable 21, held in January 2018, was focused on the business of design via the filters of pressure, place, performance, profit, strategy, and innovation. The event culminated in an executive report, The Business of Design, with industry publications including offiicetoday and Contract Furnishings News amplifying the information.

IDA also offered programming at multiple domestic trade shows in 2018, including NeoCon, HD Expo, GlobalShop, and the Healthcare Design Expo and Conference.

For NeoCon’s 50th year, IIDA designed and implemented the IIDA Truck, adorned with the IIDA Design Manifesto, which made appearances outside of the event and throughout downtown Chicago to highlight and reinforce the message to the industry and to the public that “Design is Everywhere.” The NeoCon50 campaign served as a connection point and respite for attendees and industry professionals by providing refreshments and fun surprises and earned IIDA a Home/A+Drum magazine In-House Design Award in December 2018.

For more than two decades, IIDA has partnered with Herman Miller and Interior Design as international beneficiaries to host the IIDA Leaders Breakfast. This annual international event series cultivates connections between industry leaders and the local design community while celebrating design innovation and its importance in the global marketplace. With the support of local sponsors and hardworking member committees, Leaders Breakfast has grown to include eight host cities across the United States and Canada, welcoming up to 750 attendees at each location. In 2018, breakfast speakers included a variety of diverse professionals in design and design-adjacent careers, from Oscar-nominated costume designer Ruth E. Carter to multimedia artist Phil Hansen.

In late 2018, IIDA hosted “Uncharted Success: The Unintended Path to Career Fulfillment,” sponsored by Mannington and Gutloke, an industry panel discussion and live broadcast featuring design leaders describing their personal career journeys. This event demonstrated to students and second-career individuals that the path to professional success is almost never linear.

Additionally, in December of 2018, IIDA partnered with KI to survey our members in preparation for the “Community as Strategy” six-city panel series, which would center on the emerging topic that community is shaping and defining best practices in preparation for the “Community as Strategy” six-city panel series, which would center on the emerging topic that community is shaping and defining best practices.

BROADENING INTERNATIONAL PRESENCE

The Association continued to grow its international presence through various events, panels, and dinners. In February 2018, IIDA Executive Vice President and CEO Cheryl S. Durst presented “Every Where Has a Why” at the Stockholm Furniture Fair in Sweden and completed an interview with Finnish business newspaper Kauppalehti. In October 2018, IIDA participated at Orgatec in Cologne, Germany, with a specially crafted booth, designed by Sana Kahn, Student IIDA, and sponsored by Vita, for the 2018 IIDA Booth Design Competition at Orgatec.

IDA and Mohawk Group took Savor, a special six-city series of salon-style dinners, to Milan in 2018. Attending architects and interior designers spent a stimulating evening away from their devices, enjoyed a great meal, and engaged in some much-needed conversation. Attendees had the opportunity to discuss the broad implications of the cultural shifts taking place today and how they affect both the way we design and our lives in general.

IDA also furthered partnerships with luxury brands BMW and Four Seasons Hotel to celebrate design globally. IIDA members attended awards celebrations at the Four Seasons Hotel Hong Kong for the Best of Asia Pacific Awards and in Paris at the Le Brand Store BMW George V for the Global Excellence Awards. These exclusive partnerships offer IIDA and our members opportunities to network with sought-after brands and international designers with global perspectives and an eye toward innovation.

BENEFITING STUDENTS

One of the most dynamic student/mentor programs in the industry, the 2018 IIDA Student Mentoring Program paired more than 1,000 students and mentors, allowing students to get out of the classroom and into the world of interior design. Student feedback from this experience continues to be overwhelmingly positive, with many making professional connections that ultimately result in ongoing mentorship, internships, and entry-level job offers.

For the third year in a row, IIDA moderated a series of IIDA Student Roundtable discussions in New York and Los Angeles in fall 2018. The Student Roundtables, hosted by OFS, bring together design students and practitioners to discuss the preparedness of emerging professionals to take on the ever-changing challenges of the design industry.

The 13th annual IIDA Student Design Competition, sponsored by OFS and Carolina, celebrated the talent of interior design students worldwide and allows them to showcase their projects to professionals. Student participants were challenged to design an ambulatory surgery center, with design promoting increased physician efficiency and positive patient experience.

PROFESSIONAL TOOLS

IDA is committed to providing exclusive professional services and benefits to its members. The inaugural IIDA Interior Design Compensation Report analyzes salary and benefit information of those in the interior design industry, allowing leaders to make informed business and hiring decisions. It is a vital resource for design professionals across the career spectrum.

IDA also launched the IIDA Index Report, a one-of-a-kind report, which measures the health and metrics of the interior design industry. By collecting project data from firms varying in size across the United States, the Index Report is a critical tool for analyzing various business opportunities, such as participation in niche markets and recognizing underserved sectors. The Index also assists participating firms in comparing themselves to the industry as a whole, as well as by region and segment via an exclusive web tool.

Interior+sources, officetoday, Designer, Business of Furniture, Floor Daily, MMQB, officetoday, Contract, Business of Home, and Hospitality Design each shared the launch of these two important tools, highlighting key information contained within each report.
ADVOCATING FOR OUR COMMUNITY

IIDA continues to work with a variety of stakeholders, including ASID and interior design coalitions around the country, to defend and pursue interior design regulation in various states. We provide strong content and resources for all designers to learn how to advocate and communicate with lawmakers.

In 2018, IIDA defeated a deregulation effort in Louisiana and passed a bill in Missouri to make it easier to become a registered interior designer. Additionally, a bill that would have created a permissive certification of commercial interior designers passed the Ohio House of Representatives.

The fourth annual IIDA Advocacy Symposium, sponsored by Bernhardt Design, Confira, and Crossville, held at IIDA Headquarters, drew interior design advocates from around the country. The September 2018 event featured keynote speakers Raymond Dehn, a member of the Minnesota House of Representatives, and Dr. Beth Redbird, assistant professor of sociology at Northwestern University. The Symposium explored the ways chapters could adapt to legislative changes, activate their members, and achieve advocacy success through mobility and grassroots involvement.

IIDA FOUNDATION

The IIDA Foundation is a not-for-profit 501(c)3 philanthropic organization whose various initiatives include the annual Designing for the Future Campaign, which supports a variety of educational initiatives benefiting IIDA members and the interior design profession. In 2018, this campaign raised over $25,000.

In addition, the Foundation oversees the NCIDQ Tuition Reimbursement Fund, which offers IIDA Associate members an opportunity to apply for financial assistance upon passing the NCIDQ exam, and the Sustainable Design Education Fund, sponsored by Shaw, which provides IIDA Associate, Professional, and Student members who pass the LEED or WELL Accreditation Exam the opportunity to apply for tuition reimbursement. In 2018, 14 IIDA members from 11 chapters have received financial assistance for passing the NCIDQ exam and six IIDA members from five chapters have received financial assistance for passing the LEED or WELL Accreditation Exam.

IIDA additionally established two significant education funds made available through the IIDA Foundation: the IA Interior Architects Diversity in Design Scholarship Fund, established with an initial $50,000 donation from IA Interior Architects, and the John J. Nelson Sr. Scholarship Fund, established through the personal donation of $50,000 by John J. Nelson Sr.

Information on the Diversity in Design Scholarship winners including their full essays can be found on the IIDA website. Wins are published online, promoted on IIDA social media networks to more than 300,000 followers, celebrated with the IIDA Members and Guests of Honor at the Annual Leadership Issue. In addition, Cheryl carried the message of interior design to WIRED and The Washington Post via expert commentary.

IIDA IN THE NEWS

As an international thought leader for the commercial design industry, IIDA, its leadership, and its members are often quoted, highlighted, and represented in a variety of publications, both online and in print. In addition to the many industry publications that regularly feature news and insights related to IIDA and its members, we found broadened public recognition in 2018 via noteworthy interviews with IIDA Executive Vice President and CEO Cheryl S. Durst, Hon. FIDIA, in Chicago’s Design 50 issue of Newcity and Chicago Woman’s Leadership Issue. In addition, Cheryl carried the message of interior design to WIRED and The Washington Post via expert commentary.

CHAPTERS

IIDA boasts 35 locally-led chapters across the globe. IIDA chapters host local networking opportunities and continuing education programs, support regional legislative concerns, and provide mentorship and career resources to prospective, new, and veteran members. Each dedicated chapter Board of Directors leads, organizes, and maintains chapter activities to ensure that design excellence is accessible to IIDA members everywhere.

In 2018, IIDA established two inaugural programs to benefit Chapters: The Catalyst Grant, a fund designed to spark growth and bring chapter goals to fruition by providing over $225,000 in the inaugural year, and the Best Thing Ever (BTE) award, which honors chapters’ crowning achievements. The winning chapters of the 2018 BTE awards were Georgia, Great Plains, Northern Pacific, and South Florida.

IIDA chapter presidents and president-elects, along with the IIDA International Board and IIDA Headquarters staff, gathered twice in 2018 for the Chapter Leadership Council (CLC) to discuss chapter updates and exchange ideas and crucial operation information. The June 2018 CLC keynote speaker was Joan Garry, a consultant specializing in helping nonprofits achieve their missions. These meetings give chapter leaders an opportunity to share knowledge, resolve issues, and share success stories.

In addition to the CLCs in Chicago, chapter leaders also met for five regional meetings across the United States (Indianapolis, Atlanta, Boston, Kansas City, and Honolulu) and hosted a first-ever annual chapter board welcome and orientation webinar led by IIDA Executive Vice President and CEO Cheryl S. Durst, Hon. FIIDA.

2018 Financial Highlights

Throughout the progress and growth over this last year, the financial health of IIDA has been meticulously maintained and nurtured. Over the course of the last several years, our Association has experienced membership and programming growth, and it continues to do so.

Our increased advocacy efforts, new programs, and recently relocated IIDA Headquarters serve the needs of our global presence and growing international membership. And growth requires investment. IIDA continued to increase our investments in capital costs, membership programs, and brand advocacy efforts.

In 2018

- Net membership dues increased over 5% due to new members and rate adjustments
- Expenses increased over 4% due to increased member programs and advocacy efforts
- Operating cash flows continued to be positive
- Decrease in change, in net assets, due primarily to the negative investment performance

We invite and encourage you to review the charts in this Annual Report that illustrate how funds were allocated. We continue to invest in our members’ professional development, in the design profession as a practice that affects people’s well-being, and in elevating and innovating thought leadership that guides us all toward a better future.
